FURTHER INFORMATION

ABOUT

During this course you will learn how to use Animal Reiki: a simple, non-invasive alternative therapy to help animals balance on physical, mental/emotional, and energetic levels.

Holistic thinking is focused on love, empathy, and respect. In treating an animal, a combination of both conventional and alternative or complementary therapies should be considered, and veterinary approval must always be sought. This mixture of healing arts and skills is as natural as life itself.
